BIRD DESTRUCTION.

Some Interesting Facts on the Subject.

The Number and Kind of the Feathered Tribe Killed to Satisfy the demands of Fashion.

CINCINNATI, April 28.—Superintendent Doherty, of the S. P. C. A., who has given considerable attention to the matter of bird destruction for ornamental purposes, gives the following startling facts relating to this subject: The decrease in song and shore birds has become so marked that it is attracting most general attention, and is becoming an generally discussed that it is evident that the ways of destruction, which has increased so rapidly of late years, has reached its limit, and man now quickly aside. Considerable is made that English sparrow is driving out our native birds. A well-known ornithologist, who in person has investigated the subject, says the ground is authority for the statement that there has been in the last few years in the Southern Atlantic States a wholesale destruction of northern-breeding birds, and a flight to these States for a winter home. The destruction of 40,000 birds in a single season on Cape Cod, and 1,000,000 small and red birds (birds killed in a single month near Philadelphia) are facts that may well furnish food for reflection. A single dealer, in a three months' trip to the coast of South Carolina, last spring, profited no less than $1,000 in bird skins. A considerable number of the birds killed were, of course, too much mutilated for preparation, so that the total sum realized would be much greater than the number shown. This man claims to have handled skins of parrots, toucans, etc., and to have sold them for $100 each. The number of birds killed by a certain agent of the Legislature, who had himself as a sportsman in Texas to procure for him the plumes of ten thousand white egrets. There were sold in a single auction store, in London, during the four months ending April, 1883, 40,404 West Indian and Brazilian bird skins, 20,000 East Indian, besides thousands of lapwing pheasants and birds of paradise. The slaughter has extended to all parts of the world and seems to include every species of bird, game and small, land and water. There are in the country 20,000,000 inhabitants, one-half of whom, or 25,000,000, may be said to belong to the new South. It is of the old South. He said things at Montgomery that would not say things he is of all men; ought to have said."

CONFEDERATE MONUMENT.

Laying of the Cornerstone at Montgomery, Ala.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., April 29.—The capped grounds at 11 o'clock to-day presented an animated scene. The whole hill-top and premises were covered with people, gathered to witness the laying of the corner-stone of the Confederate monument. The foundation of the monument only was ready, presenting a surface of thirty-five feet square. Near at hand stood the corner-stone, on which in raised letters, was the inscription: "Cornerstone laid by ex-President Jefferson Davis, April 29, 1880." Opposite this was a large platform for the speakers. The procession formed in front of the Exchange Hotel, Mr. Davis, his daughter, ex-Governor Watts and Hon. J. C. Calhoun, Chairman of the Committee of Arrangements, were in a carriage drawn by four white horses, each led by a negro in livery. The most carriage contained General and Mrs. Gordon, his daughter and Mrs. and Cleopatra C. Clay, and was surrounded by survivors of the Sixth Alabama and other Confederate veterans. The procession was preceded by a cavalry and artillery train, was further made up of other local military, before and ranks Knights of Pythias, Grand Commandery of Knights Templar, and Masonic bodies from different parts of the State. The demonstrations along the route were enthusiastic. The ex-President, was cheered enthusiastically. He took his seat with the Committee of the Memorial Association, behind him Mrs. Hoodoo, the Misses Davis and Gordon and General Durden on his right. Ex-Senator and others seated on the platform. The Sixth Regiment, was present also, were the trustees of the Soldiers' Memorial Association, Colonel W. L. Bragg, Major Reese, General W. W. Allen, Colonel Wm. R. Jones, Colonel W. W. Scriven and Governor O'Neal. Before the services began Colonel Bragg presented Mr. Davis with an elegant basket of flowers from Major Boiling Hall, who lives near the city of Boiling Hall, and the Confederate flag is floating from the staff of every building. "The ovation means but one thing," said another prominent Southerner. "It is to commemorate the brave and heroic dead of the South, and it was but fit that Mr. Davis should deliver the address. He has outlived all his enemies, and in his declining years he can do the country neither harm nor good. He asks nothing from the Government, and is but a private citizen."

MONROVIA, April 29.—Commenting on the Montgomery celebration in the Vicksburg Commercial Herald, the leading Democratic morning paper of the State, says: "Mr. Jefferson Davis is not of the new South. He is of the old South. He said things at Montgomery that would not say things he is of all men; ought to have said."

Saved the Hangman a Job.

HENSON, N. Y., April 30.—Gulissepe Neoma, the Italian convicted yesterday of the murder of Antonio Rocco, at the Jones Quarry, this city, and sentenced to be executed on June 4 next, committed suicide in jail at 10 o'clock last night by strangulation. When conducted from the courtroom to the death-bolt of poison was found upon his person, cut in a piece of smoking tobacco. Four hours afterwards he was found hanging in his cell dead. He used a small cord which he had worn about his waist to hold his trousers up. He had threatened self-destruction frequently.

BURIAL OF THE MANIAC.

The Husband, Under Guard of Two Men Attends the Funeral of Mrs. Smith, the Child-trainer.

FORT MONMOUTH, N. J., April 29.—The funeral of Mrs. Smith, the maniac murderer and suicide, who brained her four children, at Harmony, where she places on Friday last, took place this morning. Her remains were interred in the same grave with that of her baby girl, Edna, who was murdered by the insane mother. The heart-broken husband and father, guarded by two men, was allowed to attend the funeral. He seemed not to realize the fact that his wife was dead, and inquired several times for her. Before the mourners returned from the funeral of Mrs. Smith the thirteen-year-old boy, Rufus, whose body was taken from the back of the right ear, was the second victim of his mother's frenzied fits. The physicians are now seeking to save the lives of the other two children will be saved.

Kentucky Lynchings.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 28.—Merritt Jones, a notorious negro, was killed by a mob of citizens about midnight last night near Auburn, Ky. On Monday night Jones entered the room of two respectable young ladies, and attempted to climb over their bed. He was discovered, but made his escape. He was captured by officers, who were taking him to jail, when the mob seized Jones to hang him. He attempted to escape and was shot down. A. L. Gooch, citizen, while remonstrating with the mob, received a severe pistol-shot wound.

Terror-Stricken Landlords.

CHACO, April 28.—The Galilean landlords, panic-stricken by the news from the west of the province, are abandoning their estates and moving into this city and Leon. The roads are closed, and the people are riding in all directions, and it is feared that unless the agitation which began so strenuously last week is promptly and sternly suppressed, there will be a repetition of the awful scenes of 1840.

More Sirikes.

DAYTON, O., April 28.—Forty girls, employed in the Cooper cotton factory, asked for advanced pay, which was granted. The boys struck for better wages, and they were discharged.

FRIDAY, April 29.—Two hundred and seventy-five men in the R. Rothschild's furniture factory went out on strike, the outcome of a similar strike in the Cincinnati factory.

Startling Discovery in a Church.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 28.—The Adjutant-General of the Army has received the following telegram from General Miles, dated at Tucson, Ariz.: "The Apache in small numbers have been committing serious depredations in the country east and adjacent to the Southern railway, from thirty to one hundred and fifty miles south of the boundary, and to day (April 27) killed one man, and to day (April 28) The entrance to a woman's heart is through her eye or ear; but n philosopher has said the way to a man's heart is down his throat. Good housewives understand this, and use J. Monroe Taylor's Gold Medal Soda or Saleratus. If there are any so unfortunate as not to have tried it, go immediately to your grocer and get a paper, and our word for it, it will make a horn as hard as adamant soften and be joyful, and ever after will praise the seller of the Gold Medal Soda or Saleratus. Every Dealer sells it. Dept 114 Water Street, New York, Try it.

To THE HONORABLE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE TOWN OF LOUISA:

The undersigned, acting under the authority vested in them by the State Board of Health and, with a view to promote the health and cleanliness of the town, have recently made an inspection of your streets and alleys, and of the premises of some of our citizens. We regret to say that the general condition of the streets is filthy, and that some private yards and outhouses are the reverse of clean. We have issued an address to the public, stating in general terms the sanitary condition of our town, and making such suggestions as under the circumstances we deemed proper.

We herewith furnish your honorable body with a list of places examined by us and reported to us by citizens. We respectfully demand that you take the necessary steps to put these places in such condition as the laws of health demand.

You have the power to compel property owners to abate all nuisances, but we have no doubt that our citizens will cheerfully comply with your request to clean up.

We herewith furnish your honorable body with a list of places which need your attention:

ABOUT AUTHORS.

The incomes enjoyed by some of the popular Modern Writers.

George Eliot is said to have worked harder on "Romola" than on any of her other books. In her own words: "I began it a young woman—I finished it an old woman." And yet but about seventeen months were consumed in the work. Some authors have lived long; Alexander von Humboldt lived to be over eighty. Goethe was over eighty-one when he died. Kant lived his quiet life for just eighty years, the quietest and most uneventful life known to a man of genius. Titian died at the age of ninety-nine. Michael Angelo lived to be more than eighty. Among the royal persons who have become known as authors are Queen Victoria, King Oscar II., of Sweden; Don Louis of Portugal, the Shah Nasr-ed-Dien, of Persia; Queen Elizabeth, of Roumania; Prince Nicolas, of Montenegro; Dom Pedro II., of Brazil; King Louis II., of Bavaria, and several others. The novelists are at present dominant among us, so far as popular acceptance and remuneration go. It has been lately ascertained that Mr. Tennyson makes $40,000 a year by his poetry. Walter Besant, who was seduced from the career of a college Don by the fascinations of the novelist's art, earns more for my one of his romances than Carlyle earned in the first ten years of his literary career. Charles Reade averaged, we believe, $25 per page for his writings. Herbert Spencer's remuneration scarcely exceeds five shillings per page. Matthew Arnold's imaginative powers earn him an income at least four times smaller than Wilkie Collins' imagination can command. A shoemaker's son, a few years ago, wrote a short comic story which tickled the public taste; his success was so immediate that the public—represented by the publishers—are paying him $5,000 a year for whatever he chooses to write.—Christian at Work.

LINCOLN'S DEATH.

The House in Which the Assassinated President Breathed His Last.

It is a three-story brick in block, with a pair of stone steps and an iron railing reaching to the front door over the basement. In its wall has been sunken a marble slab on which is printed the words:

A. LINCOLN
Died in This House
April 15, 1865.

The house is now owned by a German editor named Louis Schade, who has his printing office, I think, in the basement. At the time of the assassination this house was known as the Petersen House. It was occupied by a very respectable family of that name. They were good, sensible people, not very well-to-do, who owned a large house and made something by renting rooms to strangers. John Matthews, a comedian, who was a great friend of John Wilkes Booth, had rooms in this house, and his room was the one in which President Lincoln died. A few nights before the assassination John Wilkes Booth occupied Matthews' room, and it is a curious fact that he slept in the same bed upon which the man whom he afterwards murdered breathed his last breath. It was said by some that Andy Johnson was sworn in here at this house. This may be so, but it is generally believed that he was sworn in at the Kirkwood Hotel.

The room in which the President died was a long, narrow one in the center of the building, with few windows, if any, and with paper made of great stripes. Mrs. Lincoln was not at his bedside when he passed away, and the pictures generally given do not represent the true scene of the death-bed.—Carp. in Cleveland Leader.

"Some of the huckmen of this city are a seedy set," grumbled a traveler at the central depot yesterday morning. "My wife and I got in from Chicago late last night, and I asked one of the Jesus outside the depot where we could find a good hotel. 'Try the Continental,' it isn't far off. Take you there for a dollar," said he. I jewed him down to seventy-five cents, and we got in. He drove about ten minutes, turned seventeen corners and finally left us at our inn. Perhaps my dander wasn't up when I found out this morning that the hotel is next to the depot"—Buffalo Courier.

Poisoned by Scrofula

The taint of scrofula in the blood should be got rid of or serious consequences may result. Consumption is undoubtedly scrofula of the lungs, and in its early stages may be cured by purifying the blood and removing the cause. If the disease is once well advanced, it is also a severe scourge when it appears in the form of running sores, boils, hunches in the neck, ears, chin, and in any other manner. White Hoods' Sarsaparilla also vitalizes and enriches the blood. Give it a trial.

I have been troubled with scrofula for three years, having runny sores on my legs. After taking one bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla I am getting well rapidly. As E. E. South Bend, Ind.
